SOC 221 B: STATISTICAL CONCEPTS AND METHODS FOR THE SOCIAL SCIENCES

- Winter 2017

View in MyPlan
View in Time Schedule
Meeting Time: MWF 9:30am - 10:20am
Location: SAV 260
SLN: 19921
Joint Sections: 2017,winter,STAT,221,B
2017,winter,CS%26SS,221,B
Instructor: Mahesh Somashekhar
Catalog Description:
Develops statistical literacy. Examines objectives and pitfalls of statistical studies; study designs, data analysis, inference; graphical and numerical summaries of numerical and categorical data; correlation and regression; and estimation, confidence intervals, and significance tests. Emphasizes social science examples and cases. (Students may receive credit for only one of STAT 220, STAT 221, STAT 311, STAT 221/CS&SS 221/SOC 221, ECON 311.) Offered: jointly with CS&SS 221/STAT 221; AWSp.
GE Requirements:
Natural World (NW)
Quantitative and Symbolic Reasoning (QSR)
Credits: 5.0
Status: Active
Last updated: October 12, 2017 - 9:17pm

Source URL: https://soc.washington.edu/courses/2017/winter/soc/221/b