GRADUATE STUDENT URSULA MOSQUIERA IN PERSPECTIVES NEWSLETTER

Submitted by Jerald R Herting on June 4, 2013 - 9:22am

Ursula Mosquiera appears in an article on the main UW webpage highlighting her work with our colleague, Angelina Godoy (Associate Professor in the Jackson School of International Studies). This project is part of the UW Center for Human Rights. The program is working with human rights agencies in El Salvador to help Salvadoran citizens receive reparations for crimes committed during the civil war of the 1980's. Ursula visited El Salvador this past January as part of the project.

For more details see the UW main page link:

http://www.artsci.washington.edu/newsletter/May13/ElSalvador.asp

Also for information on the Center for Human Rights see:

http://jsis.washington.edu/humanrights/

People Involved: Ursula Mosquiera, Angelina Snodgrass Godoy
News Category: Graduate Education, In the Media, Research Related Fields: Human Rights, Latin America / Latin American

Source URL: https://soc.washington.edu/news/2013/06/04/graduate-student-ursula-mosquiera-perspectives-newsletter