

Sociology in Practice

SOC 404: Winter Quarter 2016

Applied Community and Civic Internship Program

"SOC 404 was a great conversation starter in every job interview. My manager said that talking about my experience was the reason they hired me." - Former Husky

This winter and spring, the department of Sociology is offering its Community and Civic internship program where, in addition to interning, students spend 2 hours each week in a graded, seminar course, engaging in critical reflection about practical and theoretical issues of work and organizations.

Students can register for the class with an internship already arranged, or they can apply for a competitive 2-quarter internship, offered through the department of Sociology, with one of the following agencies:

- ◆ The King County Sexual Assault Resource Center (KSARC) CourtWatch program
- ◆ The Federal Public Defenders Office
- ◆ U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) and the Office of Fair Housing & Equal Opportunity (FHEO)
- ◆ The Seattle Municipal Court

Juniors and seniors are encouraged to apply. Preference will be given to Sociology majors but we will consider all applications.

Completion of SOC 221 and SOC 300 recommended but not required.

Apply using the link below!

[soc.washington.edu/
sociology-practice](http://soc.washington.edu/sociology-practice)

Registration Info

SOC 404 (5 Credits)

WED 1:30pm-3:20pm

SLN: 19738

