

Curriculum Vitae

Marie Luise Neumann

neumannm@uw.edu

University of Washington
Department of Sociology
Savery Hall, Room M294
BOX 353340

Education

University of Washington Current
Graduate Student

University of Washington 2016
MA, Sociology
Thesis: Evaluating the Sex Ratio Hypothesis: County-level Sex Ratios and Nonmarital Fertility for African Americans
Committee: Hewig Lee (chair); Stewart Tolnay

University of Washington 2011
BA, Public Health and Sociology, summa cum laude
Thesis: The Incarceration-Health Relationship: Is there a Connection between Penal Expansion and Health Outcomes?
Advisor: Stephen Bezruchka, MD, MPH

Research Interests

health and reproductive health outcomes, racial health disparities, demography, neighborhoods, incarceration, stratification, gender and bargaining

Fellowships, Awards, and Recognitions

- UW: Graduate School Top Scholar Fellowship (2013-14 Academic Year)
- UW: Department of Sociology: Howard B. Woolston Award for Academic Excellence (2011)
- UW: Student speaker at the Department of Sociology Commencement Ceremony (June 2011)
- UW: College of Arts and Sciences Dean's Medal Nominee (June 2011)
- UW: Go! Scholarship for Study Abroad in Mexico (June 2010)
- UW: President's List (Summer 2010), and Dean's list (each quarter 2009-11)
- SCCC: Global Impact Scholarship for study abroad in Tanzania

Research Experience

Research Assistant to Dr. Hedwig Lee, Department of Sociology June 2013- Current
Assessing the Association Between County- and State- Level Incarceration Rates and Physical and Mental Health of Populations

Research Assistant to Dr. Julie Brines, Department of Sociology      June 2010- March 2011
Examining the effects of unemployment, changing housing markets, and labor-sector dominance on marital disruption in the wake of the Great Recession

Research in Progress

Neumann, Marie. "Evaluating the Sex Ratio Hypothesis: County-level Sex Ratios and Nonmarital Fertility for African Americans"

Lee, Hedwig, Marie Neumann, Nicole Kravitz-Wirtz, and Chris Wildeman. "Examining the Association between County- and State- Level Incarceration Rates and Physical and Mental Health of Populations"

Teaching Experience

Teaching Assistant in the following courses:

SOC376: Drugs and Society	Winter 2016
SOC230: US Health Disparities	Fall 2016
SOC372: Law and Society	Fall 2015

Presentations

Evaluating the Sex Ratio Hypothesis: County-level Sex Ratios and Nonmarital Fertility for African Americans. Population Association of America (PAA) annual meeting, Washington DC, April 2016

County-level Incarceration Rates, Sex Ratios, and Reproductive Health in California. Deviance Seminar, University of Washington Department of Sociology, June 2014

Incarceration and Sexual Health: The Impact of County-Level Sex Ratios on Reproductive Health Outcomes. Graduate Student Research Symposium, University of Washington Department of Sociology, April 2014